≈ᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ. ᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ

Ash nazg durbatulûk. Ash nazg gimbatul

Ash nazg thrakatulûk. Agh burzum-ishi krimpatul

Notes: The inscription on The Ring as shown in The Lord of the Rings. The tengwar lettering is identical to TC-101, however this inscription uses a single dot to represent periods. It is written in a thin filamentary calligraphic style with artistic flames at either end of the first line, shown above as the ≈ sign.

B: The Ring Inscription – Rejected

ᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ: ᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ:
ᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ: ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ ᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖᑖ:

Ash nazg durbatulûk. Ash nazg gimbatul

Ash nazg thrakatulûk. Agh burzum-ishi krimpatul

Notes: This inscription is the second revision art draft of the ring inscription, it was erroneously printed in the 2004 50th Anniversary Edition of The Lord of the Rings by HarperCollins. It is substantially similar to TC-104A except for very different calligraphy. One error can be seen in the second line. The use of regular Harma instead of the extended version is also noted here, very likely due to calligraphic styles which are very different between A & B, though the tengwa written in error does have an extended stem as does the carrier at the end of the same word. Also of note is the use of two vertical dots for punctuation which is reminiscent of TC-101's use. It sits with the final art at this location in the corpus as a result of being published.

[TC-104B may be relocated to other ring drafts following internal discussions]
